
Provigo Mont-Royal

March 4, 2025

Je garde un excellent souvenirs de Madame Nairi .Je lui faisait sa Livraison D epicerie de chez Provigo depuis quelques annees

Louis

Annie Kralian

March 3, 2025

I am so sorry to hear of your mom's passing – she was a beautiful and caring woman – I had shared all the caring that your dad had given our children when he passed away but your mom was his backbone especially when he got older – They are now re-united and going for ice cream and sandwiches in heaven ????

Linda Dagostino Miniello

March 3, 2025

To the family of Dr. and Mrs Khediguian,

I was one of your father's 1st pediatric patients (so that should tell you how old I am). Subsequently he was my 2 daughter's pediatrician. He and your mother were literally a part of my life for years. Mrs Khediguian as she was known to me always greeted me with a smile, humour, endless patience and compassion. As soon as I called she would say " Come today.." – always! And imagine my surprise when she would greet and speak to me in Italian. She was thrilled to recount her travel experiences and using new newfound language skills. She was a kind, smart, funny, elegant woman and heaven just gained a shining star. I hope she and your father are sprinkling their special kind of compassion, kindness and love – I will always remember that of both of them. May your memories of them comfort you and make you smile. God bless them both

Jackie Melikian

March 2, 2025

My condolences to your family.

She was a sweet, interesting, funny, lady always with a smile.

Listening to her Italian tapes in the office!

Her husband was my pediatrician, and then my boys pediatrician, always working together.

Doctor "dai-dai" and tantig!

May she rest in peace

Iveth Morales

March 1, 2025

We will always cherish Nairi's memories. Her sense of humour, her stories, her strength and elegance, but above all, her readiness to help and empathy.

My deepest condolences Marie! To your brothers, the girls, David, niece, and all those who loved her.

Andrea Batsis

February 28, 2025

Our heartfelt condolences to your whole family. May your mother be at peace, again with your beloved father. Thinking of all of you in this difficult time.

With love, Andrea Batsis and family