Dear Ignace,

Oh, how my heart aches at your loss yet I am comforted that you are no longer in pain.

I remember the day that I called you for an interview at Bentley, more than 20 years ago, and a friendship was formed. I feel so blessed to have called you, my friend!

I will miss our time together, having lunch, trying new coffee, watching "Family Feud" and you trying to explain football to me, but for the most part I will miss our conversations. Especially the look you would give me when I was being silly.

I send my most sincere condolences to his parents, his family, and his loved ones.... May the memories of Ignace bring you comfort. May he rest in peace.

Love Nancy ?

I'll always cherish the times that Ignace and I had together, when we'd talk about books and anime and food; when we'd have coffee/hot chocolate/tea together; and when we'd watch football. Some of my earliest memories with him are of trying the food at different restaurants, one of his favourite things to do. I miss you, Ignace, RIP ??
